Match Squared at Fifth

The match was squared on the fifth lole of 354 yards, which McLean won in 3, one stroke under par. Playing the sixth hole of 392 yards, they all got into trouble, and the hole was halved in one stroke over par. The seventh hole of 562 yards is the longest on the course, and it was won by McFarlane in par. McLean increased his team's lead to 2 up on the eighth hole of 390 yards, which he won in 3, one stroke under par. On the ninth hole of 440 yards, however, Kerrigan squared the account by winning the hole in 3, one stroke under par. The tenth hole of 510 yards was admirably played and won by McFarlane in one stroke under par. This again increased his team's advantage to 2 up.

It is a sort of merry-go-round, attempting to find out what the government idea about automobiles really is. For instance, last winter the Council hole, of 575 yards.

Dowling Wins Fourteenth

Jack Dowling made the great gathering cheer by winning the fourteenth hole, of 360 yards, in one stroke underpar, and after the fifteenth hole was halved in par there was another case of rejoicing when Tom Kerrigan won the sixteenth hole, of 470 yards, in one stroke under par. The seventeenth hole was halved in par.

The eighteenth hole is 410 yards leng, and McFarlane, who topped his drive from the tee, was considered hopelessly out of it, as his second shot was 100 feet short of the green, while the others all reached the green on their second. McFarlane used a mashie and pitched for the pin, and the ball ran straight across the green and drouped in the hole for a 3, one stroke under par. The others took 4, and McFarlane and McLean won the match by 1 up. The course is 6,950 yards long. McFarlane and McLean won the match by 1 up. The course is 6,950 yards long. The Voice of Dear Old Boze

France, June 19.

"My Dear Old Hunting Pal: "The last time I wrote you and the gang I was just getting away from New Zealand field hospital in another part of France. I hope the letter got through all right. I am all right again and in fine health. My bean was busted up a little for a while, but she seems to be working

"I have had various kinds of service and have been in all kinds of places since I wrote you last, and here I find myself in an ancient city right on the banks of a river of which you have read much in the present war and not so far away from where things are humming. My, Bill, but it would make you crack your heels and knock over another Scotch or two if you could see the way our soldiers go after these Hunsl A French paper the other day made the enthusiastic comment that 'the 1870,' when as a matter of fact they were almost new on the job.

"I think I have written some of the gang of what other officers are congratulating me about, and calling an important promotion. I have been and am on work with GHQ as you will observe from the address given above. Address me: 'Maj. B. Bulger, GHQ G2-D, A. E. F., France. While my work is really a big job, and I go all over France, along the line, I have never yet got over the keen disappointment of leaving the old battalion with which I served so long. I still think a lot of those soldiers, and we went through so much together that I feel as if were separated from my family. I have a big, high-powered car to get around in, though-that is, when somebody else doesn't have to have itand consequently I see a great deal that I would not otherwise.

Just Missed the Old Cap

66T HE Old Cap (Major T. L. Huston) came up to my little village where my battalion was stationed and waited all day to see me, only to leave a half-hour before I got there. Since then I have moved so much that I have not been able to locate him again; but I have written him and I think he knows where I am. I have also seen Captain (or rather Major) Cushman A. Rice. He was in Paris the other day, where I have to go frequently.

"I have an idea some of my friends who heard of my having been hurt may have been worried. But I am just as well as I ever was in my life, and but for the fact of being away from my family and all my dear old pals so long I would be as happy as a lark. I have a rather important job that I have to go on alone this afternoon and am waiting for the car. This is the first crack I have had at a typewriter for a long time and I thought I would avail myself of the opportunity of writing to you.

"It is very difficult to write an interesting letter, as the things that I would like to tell you about are forbidden. I can't even tell you where I am. I only wish that you could be with me.

Have you seen old Charley Gebest? I guess you and he would have another laugh if you could see me scooting around now. No pointer dog ever "i heard that Runyon had been sick in bed. I hope he is all right now.

And how are Frank and Harry Stevens, bless 'em? I'd like to be in that office and step back into that little wardrobe.

Telephone Handcuffs Boze

Y FRENCH is improving slowly, and I manage to get along for ordinary things, but I have yet to achieve my ambition of being able to in French. Without my hands and sign language I'm a bum at French. One more season, though, and I should be able to hit pretty well. "The other day I rode through the little town where Jeanne d'Arc was born, and I spent an interesting hour there. I was in the little but where she was born and in the church where she prayed. It is very quaint, I also walked of 5.15 yards.

of National Defence characterized the up on the mountainside to see the spot where the great vision came to her that caused her to lead the French armies to victory. Every store in the little village is named after her and there is a shrine on every corner. "I have not seen or heard anything from my old outfit since I left, but expect to soon. I have no fear about their ability to make a good showing for themselves, no matter what the Huns start. "I saw Martin Green in Paris the other day, and he seems to be doing well. He had a bad cold, but outside of that he was as natural as ever. I also saw George Patullo, Arthur Ruhl, F. P. Adams, Maximilian Foster, Paul West and a few other fellows that you happen to know. I also had a long talk with Visniski, who used to be with the Wheeler Syndicate,

Boze Enjoys Treat of His Life

66T WO days ago we were treated to a pretty sight here. American and French sergeants marching 300 Hun prisoners down the street. I talked to one of the prisoners, and he said the Germans were well aware now that the Americans could fight. He spoke pretty good English, and wound up by saying: 'At any rate, WE know they can fight.'

"I wish you could see my temporary quarters. I am in a villa or chateau of an old French family, the house having been deserted on account of the near approach of the Boche. The place is beautiful, with its pretty rose gardens and shrubbery and the artistic furnishings in the rooms. It really seems a shame that people had to go away and leave a beautiful place like that. An old French woman comes in the morning and makes coffee and cleans up for us, but we have to get our meals down in the village.

"If you see Colonel Ruppert and Bill, remember me to them, "Please write to me as soon as you get a chance, and say hello to all my dear old friends, all of whom you know so well. "With all the good wishes in the world, I am,

"Your old gunning mate.

No Time for Baseball War

PRESIDENT John Kinley Tener of the National League is to be commended for the stand he has taken against Ban Johnson and those proselytes who would tear down the very foundations of the great structure of an organized sport to satisfy the personal pride of a boss who is wont to crack his whip just to see his manikins dance. One of the very best things that could happen would be a government ediet ordering that every motor car in the nation stop running for a period of sixty days. By the time the sixty days were over, the Congress would learn whether or not the motor car is a luxury or an essential. It wouldn't take many guesses to establish which class it would prove to be in.

Incidentally, are the members of Congress all laying up their cars?

of an organized sport to satisfy the personal pride of a boss who is not crack his whip just to see his manikins dance.

This is no time for a baseball war. If Johnson or any of the rest of magnates wish to fight let them join Major T. L. He will welcome them and put them to work with pick and shovel in one of his construction gangs. The great trouble with baseball is that it is of his construction gangs. The great trouble with baseball is that it is being slowly talked to death. It is a pity that the game has to suffer because a few misguided souls in control of it like so well to see their names in the paper.

In this instance, John K. Tener is absolutely right. Those who would make a "scrap of paper" of the sacred treaty known as the peace agreement will find to their sorrow that the principles of autocracy, even in baseball, will get a very little way with a public of such temper as now prevails in the United States. If Barney Dreyfuss, as has been intimated from the West, has, through personal pique over the Sisler decision, lined up with Ban Johnson in a base action, then Barney Dreyfuss is not only IN PURBUANCE OF AN OPPURE OF HON.

Congress all laying up their cars?

There are good chances to save gasolene in several ways. It is estimated that the loss through dripping from tank wagons serving garages, filling stations, etc., is 104,000 gallons a day. It doesn't seem possible, off hand, that there can be so great a loss, but when it is considered that there are many thousand such places and that only a very little loss by dripping must be multiplied by thousands of times in the course of a day, it becomes more comprehensible. The sooner the American League sends Scott Perry to Boston the sooner it will regain public respect and esteem. Connie Mack is being allowed to steal the labor which belongs to another, if there is any virtue to covenant. The action is mean and despicable. THAVE just received from France a letter from Major Bozeman Bulger, the first New York newspaper man to gain a commission in the United States army as an officer of the Reserve. Major Bulger, respected from coast to coast as an authority on baseball and a fiction writer of exceptional talent, asks me to remember him to all his old pals. I flatter myself that most, or many, of Major Bulger's friends are friends of mine, and as I hope my friends occasionally glance at this column perhaps I shall be pardoned by those unfortunate enough not to know the grandest, most gentle-hearted, whole-souled, noble fellow in all the world for printing the letter verbatim, which follows:
